

VETTOS CORNER

Born in Port- au- prince Haiti and a sibling of nine, Yvette was always a creative. She had big dreams and always loved bright colors, texture and style. In grade school she learned how to sew and as she got older, she started exploring art.

Yvette was the first out of the family to move to New York. She was able to pursue different career paths. As she began to start her own family, art was always in the picture. Fast forward to now, her art is expressed through multiple mediums. You can find her colorful paintings of her native land on clothing, jewelry, hats, kitchen ware and the traditional canvas.

The goal is to expand, for now you can purchase these items on www.houseofmonde.com. Future plans is to collaborate with different artists and charities. Spreading the beauty of Haiti one art piece at a time
